

Cover Letter

Hi, I'm Diogo Rodrigues, a front-end developer with UI/UX design skills (front-end designer / web designer), 10 years of experience, based in Dublin, Ireland. I speak Portuguese (I'm Brazilian) and English.

I am looking for a company to work for that values its employees, that values diversity and respect.

I've been working with React for the last two years and I'm currently improving some skills: Next.js, Gatsby.js and React Native. I love to work with Storybook. And I also have a strong knowledge about HTML, CSS, JS, UX and UI. Wordpress, SEO, usability and accessibility as well.

See all my skills here: <https://www.diogorodrigues.dev/about>

You can see some of my projects in my portfolio and also in my github:

<https://github.com/diogorodrigues>

You can read about my career path and why I consider myself a front-end designer in this post:

<https://www.diogorodrigues.dev/blog/which-type-of-frontend-developer-am-i>

Some other words about me:

Since 2009 I've been living and breathing web development and creating modern and user friendly interfaces. I've had the chance to immerse myself in many different works and projects, helping to make this world a little better through design & code. ✨🥰

I've collaborated on great products for Nike Brazil, HP Brazil and International, HCSS and Call Source. Previously, I worked for Via Varejo - owner of large Brazilian ecommerces, such as Casas Bahia, Pão de Açúcar and Ponto Frio.

There are two great works that I want to highlight:

My most recent project was with a redesign of an online learning platform called HP Life. It was built in 7 different languages (including Arabic) and free for people all over the world. I joined the team based on Houston (from Brazil) helping them understand the flow, creating the wireframes with Adobe XD and also planning the components on Storybook with React.js. I'm so proud to take part in this project, because I felt that I really collaborated for a better world, literally.

Another project that I worked on in the last years was the Brazilian version of Nike ecommerce. It was amazing, because Nike is one of the biggest brands in the world and I felt I really had a huge responsibility in my hands. The idea was to transform the user's digital shopping experience through a minimally planned interface, based on several case studies and usability tests. I worked as a front-end developer helping the team with the site in general and with the new checkout process.

You can read more about me in my website: <https://www.diogorodrigues.dev/about>

Thank you.

Diogo Rodrigues